

INFOPACK PARTICIPATION NEEDS (NONVIOLENT) DEBATE IS BACK!

Erasmus+ project - Youth participation activities

Project aims

Promote in 3 territorial contexts a capacitating and inclusive form of youth participation: non-violent debate. It creates an opportunity for young people to have a space in which they can construct their own opinions and compare them with those of others

Allow young people to trigger a process of change of which they are the leader and animates the creation of a local and international youth movement that shares objectives and tools for participation.

Enables participation in a European dimension: Through the organisation of dozens of debates at local level, it aims to draw up recommendations addressed to European candidates

-Consolidate the non-violent debate approach to reach young people normally excluded from traditional political participation processes.

Invests in young people as peace potentials within society by equipping them with tools to deal with conflicts non-violently

What do we mean by nonviolent debate?

By nonviolent debate we mean: knowing how to build a documented opinion and knowing how to communicate in a nonviolent way with others, learning to recognize the complexity of opinions, not being polarized by violent communication, countering misinformation and manipulation, and imagining constructive and non-divisive solutions for the future of our society.

The project intends to accompany the young participants in a process of building their own critical thinking and personal values, through a process of research, reading, and analysis of sources to subsequently communicate their opinions in an assertive manner and promote the active participation of other young people
